

Dance for young children...why?

Many experts believe that a child who has not been exposed to dance has missed an important developmental opportunity. Through the language of movement, children discover imaginative uses of their bodies while developing good posture, coordination, rhythm, self confidence and the ability to work with other children.

Julie Mizer-Grasse, Canton Ballet's Early Childhood Specialist for young children, is available to teach a series of creative dance classes in your school.

Please encourage your school to begin "Joy of Movement" classes at the earliest possible opportunity. Your child will surprise you with his or her rapid progress in physical and mental skills.

Sign up now for an 8 week session.
For more information call your school's office.